

TRAIN THEM 2 FISH

About half of all Adventists in the world live in Africa.

The majority of institutions and members in Africa live in Anglo-phone (English-speaking) countries with no opportunities for French-speaking laymen to be trained to go out and plant churches in Francophone countries.

Train Them 2 Fish (TT2F) is working to fill this vacuum. Located near Kinshasa (which has a greater population than Paris and Montreal combined), a School of Evangelism is being developed to train laymen for this important work.
